After graduation, Zelda spent seven months teaching English in Thailand before moving to Colorado to attend the University of Denver Sturm College of Law, where she earned her Juris Doctor in 2025 with a Certificate in Environmental and Natural Resource Law and Distinction in Public Good. During law school, Zelda served as Managing Editor of the University of Denver Water Law Review and gained practical litigation experience through judicial internships and her work in DU's environmental law clinic.

Prior to joining Tucker Holmes, P.C., Zelda worked with the Colorado Judicial Branch in both the Denver District Court and the El Paso County Combined Court. In those roles, she drafted orders on a wide range of civil and criminal matters and assisted judges during hearings and trials. Her experience working closely with the judiciary provided her with valuable insight into effective legal writing, litigation strategy, and courtroom procedure.

Zelda joined Tucker Holmes, P.C. as an Associate in May 2026, where she is involved in all aspects of the firm's litigation practice. She is licensed to practice law in Colorado. Outside of the office, Zelda enjoys skiing, traveling, and playing with her dog.
